

Social Exclusion (Master of Theology) 2024-2025

Structure of the Master's program

The Social Exclusion Master's studies (Master of Theology) consist of 120 ECTS (or credits) to be completed over two years. In the first year, students are intended to complete all modules except for Advanced Perspectives on Social Exclusion (Theological Ethics and Philosophy of Religion) (20 ECTS), Master's Thesis in Social Exclusion (30 ECTS) and the courses Social Exclusion Theories Advanced Perspectives (5 ECTS) and Seminar II: Methods for Studies of Social Exclusion. This will come out to 65 ECTS since all courses are either 5 ECTS or 10 ECTS worth. It is highly recommended that students complete 65 ECTS in the first year so more time can be dedicated to the thesis process during the second year. At the end of the first year, students will be asked for their preliminary thoughts on a thesis topic which will help to determine supervision for their theses in the second year. Please note that the thesis topic can be changed in the future and will be developed further during the second-year thesis seminar. The second year will consist of the courses Social Exclusion Theories Advanced Perspectives, Seminar II: Methods for Studies of Social Exclusion, the module Advanced Perspectives on Social Exclusion (Theological Ethics and Philosophy of Religion), the module Master's Thesis in Social Exclusion and the elective course.
