I'M FARHAN,

a second-year master's student in Information Technology at Åbo Akademi University. My focus lies in understanding the fascinating ways humans interact with technology.

When I'm not studying, I work as a software developer at a Finnish startup, where I get to write code that might just change the world.

But hey, it's not all work and no play! I love exploring nature, whether it's hiking, long walks, or soaking in the fresh Finnish air. On weekends, you'll often find me playing volleyball or chasing sunsets with my camera (amateur photographer alert!). Oh, and I'm a sucker for cinematic masterpieces and occasionally, I try my hand at creating them too.

Looking forward to helping you settle in and sharing some tips on making the most of your time in Finland!

Reach out, anytime :)
